Subject: More on the apartment living - spying - on me ...

Hello,

On 11-AGU-2006 a couple of electricians were out here working on the attic space and had the boiler room door open next to my apartment, with permission I climbed up the latter inside the boiler room and took a peek at the attic space above my apartment and noticed that there was a partition, plywood partition wall and door that hides from prying eyes everything behind it, this partition was running cross-wise above my apartment about just above the kitchen area... One could not rule out my suspicion that there is attic space access from the other side of my kitchen wall where the neighbors bathroom is located and where he spends all his time while at home, probably running lots of electronic listening and viewing trough the walls type equipment...

I hear weigh shifting from above that area, and when I took a peek at what was above the apartment I could not see past the plywood partition wall there, which could conceal an entry into the attick space from this bathroom that is on the other side of my kitchen...

OK...

Well... Just wanted to mention this as well, plenty of reasons from my supsicions...

This is a just a picture of a latter in the halway that day, I should of snaped a picture of the attic space as well...
